

FPT EDUCATION
FPT POLYTECHNIC COLLEGE

ENGLISH 2.1

FINAL ASSIGNMENTS:

Student's name: PHẠM THẾ TÌNH

Student's code: ps26461

Instructor: CÔ HỒ NGỌC THANH PHÚC

Class: ENT2126.47

Ho Chi Minh City, 12 June 2023

COMMENTS

✎ Lecturer 1 :

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

✎ Lecturer 2:

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

Topic 1: Talk about my favorite mean of transportation

Hello teacher, my name is Pham The Tinh. Today, I would like to talk about my favorite means of transportation.

My favorite means of transportation is a motorbike, I use it every day, and it is almost my companion now. It's a Cub-fifty cc, my mother bought it for me to go to school when I was in 10th grade, it's very durable, it has been 6 years but it still hasn't had any problems, It only problem now is old. I also only like to ride a motorbike. Because it is very convenient and comfortable, when riding a motorbike we can go as slow or as fast as we like, and can stop to see any beautiful scenery. I think I will go to Dam Sen amusement park with my friends, it's really not that hard to go there once, but I don't have much free time so I will go there next time on my motorbike.

On my most recent vacation, I went with my friends to Dam Sen amusement park. We started going at 8 a.m o'clock, it took about 1 hour to arrive. It was a beautiful day, there were a lot of people there and everyone was friendly. There are many games to play but we just swim in the pool and played water slide. After that, we ate at the stone benches, and after eating, we walked around together and took pictures for souvenirs, there are also many beautiful places to take pictures. The trip was long for 5 hours, about 2 pm we left. It was a memorable vacation, and for me, the best thing about this trip is having fun with friends, and creating more bonding memories

That's all about my favorite means of transportation and my most recent vacation. Thank you for listening!

Topic 2: Talk about my favorite of shopping habits

Hello teacher, my name is Pham The Tinh. Today, I would like to talk about my shopping habits.

First, I am not a shopaholic because I believe in being mindful of my purchases and sticking to a budget. When it comes to shopping for clothes, I usually buy at local boutiques or department stores. For electronic devices, I prefer purchasing them from reputable online retailers or directly from the manufacturer's website.

When it comes to buying online or at shops, I generally prefer buying online because it offers convenience and a wider range of options. However, if I need something urgently or want to physically see and test a product, I choose to buy at shops. I shop online for clothes quite frequently as it saves time and allows me to explore a broader selection. For electronic devices, I tend to research extensively online before making a purchase.

My favorite website for online shopping is Shopee because it offers competitive prices, a user-friendly interface, and reliable customer reviews. When shopping online, I consider factors such as price, customer reviews, and product origin. Price is important, but I also value the opinions and experiences of other customers. I prefer using a credit card for online purchases as it provides security and easier tracking of expenses.

Fortunately, I haven't had any bad experiences while shopping online or at stores. I try to make informed decisions and read reviews before making a purchase. Additionally, I am cautious about the website's credibility and ensure secure payment methods are available.

That's all about my shopping habits. Thank you for listening, and I hope you gained insights into my preferences and considerations when it comes to shopping.

Topic 3: Talk about Vietnamese gestures and customs

Hello teacher, my name is Pham The Tinh. Today, I would like to talk about Vietnamese gestures and customs.

In Vietnam, like in any other country, people have unique ways of greeting, exchanging business cards, engaging in small talk, and using gestures. Understanding these customs can help us communicate and interact effectively with Vietnamese people.

Greeting

In Vietnam, there are various ways to greet someone. People commonly bow, kiss on the cheek, hug, nod, or simply say hello. The type of greeting used depends on the person's age, social status, and the level of familiarity between individuals. When greeting elderly people, it is customary to show respect by bowing slightly or using honorific terms. Younger people often greet their friends with hugs or a simple nod. Handshakes are also common, especially in business settings, but the firmness of the handshake may vary based on personal preference.

Secondly, I would like to talk about exchanging business cards.

Gestures

Gestures can have different meanings in different countries, and Vietnam is no exception. In Vietnam, the "thumbs-up" sign is generally understood as a positive gesture, similar to its meaning in many other cultures. To point at someone in Vietnam, it is common to use an open palm with the fingers extended. However, it's worth noting that pointing directly at someone with the index finger is considered impolite. Vietnamese people often indicate numbers using their fingers, with the thumb representing the number one and subsequent fingers representing higher numbers. In conclusion, understanding Vietnamese gestures and customs plays a vital role in building connections and communicating effectively. By knowing how to greet appropriately and interpret gestures correctly, we can establish positive relationships and show cultural sensitivity. That brings me to the end of my talk. Today, I discussed Vietnamese including greeting and gestures. Thank you for listening.

Topic 4: Talk about my favorite movie

Hello teacher, my name is Pham The Tinh. Today, I would like to talk about my favorite movie.

This movie holds a special place in my heart, and I'm excited to share my thoughts and experiences with you.

My all-time favorite movie is 3 Idiots. This film has captured my heart for several reasons. It falls into the genre of comedy drama, and it combines elements of funny and drama, making it an unforgettable cinematic experience. The movie tells the story of The work revolves around the friendship of three students at an Indian technical university, while also attacking the social pressures under the Indian education system.. It was released in 2009 and features a talented cast, including Aamir Khan. One aspect I love about this movie is the captivating characters, particularly Rancho. Their performances bring depth and authenticity to the story. Additionally, there are several scenes that have left a lasting impression on me, such as "a few weeks before the final exam, an incident occurred. In a drunken rage, Farhan, Raju, and Rancho go to Virus's house and urinate on his door, which angers him and expels Raju from school unless Raju accuses Rancho of what happened the day before".

I had the pleasure of watching this movie at home. I watched it alone. For me, watching a movie is an opportunity to relax and indulge in some delicious snacks or drinks. While watching this movie, I particularly enjoyed coke. Thank you for listening.